Higher Education Updates

Message from Wendy Walsh, Higher Education Program Manager

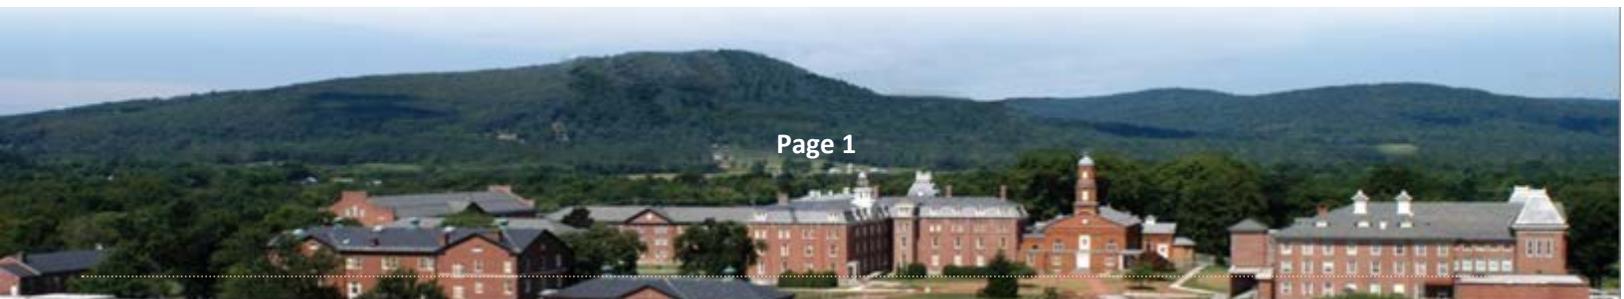

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Coastal Resilience Center of Excellence (CRC) hosted FEMA Administrator Craig Fugate as part of the Natural Hazards Resilience Speaker Series. Mr. Fugate spoke about Emergency Management in the 21st Century. The Speaker Series is part of a course taught by CRC Director Gavin Smith that includes topics related to natural hazards. Talks will be held on the UNC campus throughout the Spring 2016 semester.

We are looking for a few more student volunteers for the June Symposium. Students will be taking session notes, managing logistics for breakout sessions and supporting Q&A during plenary sessions. This is a great opportunity to network with faculty and peers! Contact Barbara if you are interested.

It is always bittersweet to see young, capable teammates move on to new opportunities to learn, serve and grow. We would like to take this moment to convey our immense gratitude to Ms. Shannon Cool for her contributions to the Higher Education Program over the past several years. Shannon has been serving as our program contract support carrying out the important tasks of maintaining our program College List, supporting our annual Symposium, coordinating materials for our focus groups and assisting with the organization of our webinar series. She has always been dependable, diligent and detailed. Shannon will start her new position on May 2, and we wish her the very best in the next chapter of her career.

The 18th Annual Emergency Management Higher Education Symposium is scheduled June 6-9, 2016, at the National Emergency Training Center in Emmitsburg, MD. Mark your calendars now.

- The deadline is May 13 for symposium applications. Applications will not be accepted after this date.
- The draft agenda is available on the symposium web page
- Please provide your selections for Monday, June 6, workshops to Barbara as soon as possible.
- Moderators/facilitators are needed to introduce speakers, keep the breakout session to the allotted time, and maintain a cool and professional atmosphere. To request a session, or for more information, contact Shannon or Barbara.

NETC Library

Do you or your students sometimes struggle to comb through all the different commercial sources for scholarly articles on all-hazards-related topics? Depending on what you are researching, you may have a quite a few to search through. Wouldn't it be a great help if there were just one reliable source, or one discovery tool that you could rely on for getting maximum coverage? Here at the NETC library, for many years we've been indexing scholarly articles from both core all-hazards journals and journals from other disciplines that offer research on topics of importance to the emergency management community.

To widen our reach, we've begun indexing selected articles that we may not immediately have the ability to acquire but which are likely of importance to our stakeholders. You can browse this initial group of about 100 citations that largely cover aspects of preparedness. Let us know what you think and if you have other suggestions for how we can make our online catalog a more readily useful discovery tool for you and your program. For more information, contact Edward Metz.
