

Higher Education Program News

Message from Wendy Walsh, Higher Education Program Manager

I hope that each of you had a wonderful holiday season and have started the New Year off with lots of ambition. We certainly have here at EMI! As many of you noticed, we suspended our newsletter for a few months to redesign, and I think you will be pleased with the new format.

This newsletter is a critical media for the Higher Education Program as it provides a way for us to share the community voice. To this end, we invite you to share events, new programs, current research, community awards, and other information you would like us to consider including in the weekly newsletter. Please send your submissions to Barbara Johnson at Barbara.johnson3@fema.dhs.gov.

With the New Year, we have some new sections in our newsletter including a monthly update to provide you current information on the opportunities and activities of our sponsored focus groups, new programs added to the college list, and updates on symposia, webinars, and courses. We also have a section provided by the National Emergency Training Center (NETC) Library. Our librarian, Ed Metz, will highlight new books and publications that might be of interest to our higher education community. In addition, we will work to include activities and opportunities provided by other Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and Department of Homeland Security (DHS) offices. For example, you will see an opportunity to join a webinar next month sponsored by FEMA's Individual and Community Preparedness Division on "Preparing Youth for Disasters" as well as our own webinar "Understanding the Basic Relationship between Public Information Officers and Journalists."

I look forward to your inputs and feedback as we embark on 2016, energizing and taking the EMI Higher Education community to the next level!
