Higher Education Updates

Message from Wendy Walsh, Higher Education Program Manager

This week has been another inspiring week for many reasons, and I would like to highlight just a couple. First, I had the opportunity to share the Emergency Management Higher Education Program with the PhD students at Jacksonville State University. I am very grateful to Dr. Jane Kushma for the invitation and was impressed with the work in which the students are currently engaged as well as their ideas for dissertations. While the Higher Education Program is mainly charged with supporting emergency management programs and faculty, the ultimate measure of its success is the quality of emerging emergency management research and workforce (both practitioners and academic).

Secondly, this week EMI held its employee appreciation luncheon. Building a sense of grateful community is inspiring and energizing. Our Superintendent, Tony Russell, and Deputy Superintendent, Paul Butki, shared their remarks about the great EMI team. What sort of things are you doing in your campus environment to promote community? Share your story with me here.

EM Higher Education Community Conference Calls – Please join us. The purpose of the call is to: learn from the emergency management academic community what is new and exciting in their world; find out about ongoing projects; discuss higher education community needs that we can address; and provide the opportunity for callers to ask questions. The date for the next conference call is MONDAY, November 21 from 2:00-3:00 p.m. EDT. Please note this is a change from our regularly scheduled Thursday call. Let us know if you have topics you would like to discuss. The call information is 800-320-4330, PIN: 376368.

EM Hi Ed Webinar Series - If you are interested in sharing your expertise, or would like us to cover a specific topic in a future webinar, please contact Wendy Walsh at wendy.walsh@fema.dhs.gov.

College List - The EMI Higher Education Program keeps a list list of colleges and universities that offer emergency management, homeland security, and related programs. EMI staff do not provide college recommendations or discuss the relative merits of the colleges and universities listed. Please send updates to your information to FEMA-emi-collegelist@fema.dhs.gov Next year, the update templates will be pre-populated with your information.

Have you heard of our community special interest groups (SIGs)? The SIGs serve as a focal point for community development in their special area, potentially co-authoring/researching and serving as mentors to students and subject matter experts to practitioners. If you are interested in joining a SIG please send an email to us, and we will connect you with the SIG lead. The current SIGs are:

Resources and Announcements

National Native American Month. Tribal governments and their members are an essential part of our nation's emergency management team. Effective relationships with tribes are necessary to fulfill FEMA's mission to support our citizens and first responders to ensure that as a nation we work together to build, sustain and improve our capability to prepare for, protect against, respond to, recover from and mitigate all hazards. FEMA is committed to supporting Indian Country in its efforts to build more resilient and better prepared communities.
