Auburn University – Emergency Management for Government and the Public Sector Certificate Program

The Emergency Management Certificate program transitioned from the Center for Governmental Services in the Winter of 2015 and now resides at its new home, under the guidance and direction of Auburn University’s Office of Professional and Continuing Education.

Earn the Emergency Management certificate by completing a minimum of five (5) courses. Individuals enrolled in the Emergency Management Certificate program must complete all four specified core courses as well as one elective. Courses may be taken individually and independently from the Emergency Management Certificate.

2016 Online Schedule for Specified Core courses:

4. Resource Management

2016 Online Schedule for Electives:

1. Key Elements of Critical Infrastructure Protection and Continuity Post-9/11 and Post-Katrina
2. Building an Effective Emergency Management Program
3. Defense Support of Civil Authorities
4. Planning and Preparedness for Health Care and Medical Professionals
5. Technology in Emergency Management

Auburn University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges.
