

Excelsior College – Bachelor of Science in Homeland Security and Emergency Management

The Bachelor's of Science in Homeland Security and Emergency Management premiered in 2015 at Excelsior college, and is associated with the division of Public Service in the School of Undergraduate Studies.

The program is designed for those who wish to work as first responders, or act as an emergency manager at the municipal, state, and federal levels, and/or a private entity to prepare for, mitigate, and recover from, disasters; either man-made or natural. Students will take courses in homeland security, terrorism, infrastructure security and policy, and emergency management.

With a liberal transfer policy, Excelsior College requires a minimal amount of residency credits (sometimes as little as 3), and all courses may be taken online, to accommodate a learner's life schedule.
