

George Brown College, Toronto - Emergency Management Certificates

George Brown College, Centre for Continuous Learning, offers Emergency Management programs consisting of Continuing Education certificates and courses in Emergency Response and Business Continuity. The programs will be offered on a part-time basis, and by online distance education, for working professionals. Courses will be taught by emergency management and disaster preparedness specialists and guided by an advisory board of emergency management experts.

The Emergency Management certificates cover critical elements of disaster preparedness: mitigation, response and recovery. Each certificate is sector and/or discipline specific in its focus.
