NAIT (Northern Alberta Institute of Technology)

The Emergency Management (EMGT) Program is a comprehensive, distance-delivered program that provides students with a fundamental understanding of the opportunities and challenges in this dynamic, rapidly growing field. Practitioners in this area need to have both the theoretical knowledge and practical skills in order to effectively mitigate against the risk of harm or loss for industry, public sector, community, government and individuals.

NAIT currently offers two certificates and one diploma designed to meet the needs of students new to the field of study as well as mature students with significant experience in Emergency Management. NAIT has created a flexible learning pathway with some of the EMGT courses being available as open studies courses with multiple intakes throughout the academic year. Additionally, all courses from the certificate are transferable to the diploma program for those students who choose the additional credentialing.

Currently, all courses are 100% online.

Emergency Management Diploma (60 credits)
The Emergency Management Diploma requires the completion of 19 online courses, including all of the programs from each of the certificates and one capstone project. Course work covers all of the integrated pillars of emergency management: mitigation/prevention, preparedness, response and recovery and includes additional programs focused on communication, stakeholder relationships, public engagement, emergency exercises, environmental disasters, disaster health and emergency social services.

Diploma Program Outcomes
Graduates from the diploma program will be able to:
• Develop Emergency Management systems and tools to address stakeholder emergency concerns
• Apply risk related communication strategies, techniques and tools
• Apply leadership strategies, techniques and tools in a multi-jurisdictional, multi-stakeholder environment
• Build and enhance sustainable relationships with emergency stakeholders/partners

A Public Sector Certificate and an Industrial Sector Certificate (15 credits/5 courses each) are also available for students who are wanting additional credentialing without taking the full diploma at this time. These courses are directly transferable to the Diploma program.
