

State University of New York, Broome Community College, Binghamton - Associate in Science in Homeland Security

SUNY Broome's Homeland Security A.S. program prepares students for positions in fields such as homeland security, emergency management, and criminal justice, in both government and private organizations. Courses are taught by faculty with real-world experience. The program features a blend of SUNY General Education and Liberal Arts requirements, along with coursework specific to homeland security, emergency management, criminal justice, and fire science. This program promotes critical thinking, professionalism, and ethical responsibility. The Homeland Security A.S. program prepares students for transfer to four-year colleges and universities to complete a Bachelor's degree in Homeland Security, Emergency Management, or related programs.

Graduation Requirement: 60-62.50 Credits
