

Tulane University – Masters of Professional Studies in Emergency Management

A Master of Professional Studies in Emergency Management degree from the Tulane School of Professional Advancement will give you the skills and knowledge to play a leading role in protecting your community from both natural and human-made hazards and disasters, learning online and earning a master's degree on your schedule.

As an emergency studies graduate, you'll be ready to pursue a career as:

Emergency Management Director

Operations Specialist Business Continuity Planner Safety Manager

Training Coordinator Federal Coordinating Officer

Emergency Management Site Inspector

Courses in this program are available entirely online!

This MPS consists of nine core courses, one elective, and one capstone course. Core courses cover a range of academic disciplines, such as homeland security and approaches to counter-terrorism, emergency management administration, and disaster communications.

After successfully completing the nine core courses and one elective, students complete a capstone. This course synthesizes the full range of knowledge, skills, and abilities students developed over the entirety of their emergency management studies. You will integrate and apply key concepts through a business-based project, developing a proposal and conducting this project at a public or non-profit sector entity.

Course Requirements:

- Introduction to Emergency Management
- Health and Medical Issues in Emergency Management
- Homeland Security and Approaches to Counter-Terrorism
- Business Continuity
- Emergency Planning
- Risk Management and Threat Assessment
- Disaster Communications
- Emergency Management Administration
- Cyber Threats and Homeland Security
- Elective (choose one):
  - Sport/Event Security and Response
  - Leadership, Influence, and Decision Making in Disasters
- Capstone

Classes in the MPS in Emergency Management launch in January 2019, pending approval from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS).
