

University of Findlay, Findlay - Environmental and Emergency Management Training Courses

The All Hazards Training Center, established by the University of Findlay, develops and delivers customized environmental, health and safety training programs. Our programs meet our client's individual training needs on a facility-by-facility, division-by-division – or even a complete corporate-wide basis, coast-to-coast. We specialize in training private and public sector clients from a comprehensive “all hazards” perspective. The all hazards approach teaches not just technical analysis, operational procedures and equipment, but also threat assessment, response management and multi-agency coordination, for any type of crisis event – man made or natural. We offer customized on-site training courses for our clients at their facilities, our courses include; Operations, Technician, Specialist, and Incident Command Levels of Emergency Response, OSHA 40-Hour Hazardous Waste Site Workers, Confined Space Entry and Rescue, Railcar Incident Response, Workplace Violence Prevention, RCRA Hazardous Waste Generator, DOT Hazardous Materials Transportation, Campus/School Safety and Security, Facility Security Officer, and more.

The University of Findlay also offers an accredited Undergraduate Degree in Environment, Health, Safety, and Sustainability and an accredited Graduate Degree in Environmental Management. Training courses can be taken for academic credit towards a certificate in Emergency Management.
