

University of North Carolina at Pembroke –Emergency Management MPA Concentration

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is offering a 12-hour Emergency Management concentration in its Master of Public Administration program. The purpose of the MPA program is to provide professional education for in-service and pre-service graduate students in public administration. This concentration is designed to enhance the capabilities of those currently involved in emergency management and those who aspire to such careers. More importantly, the emergency management MPA concentration is designed for all public administration professionals whose work is increasingly associated with the many dimensions of emergency management. Among those administrative professionals who could benefit most from a solid foundation in emergency management are: emergency responders, planners, city managers, human resource directors, and finance directors, personnel in traditional disciplines such as law enforcement, fire EMS, information, technology, risk management, public works, public health, community services, and others.

Required Emergency Management Concentration Courses (3 hours):

- EMG 5150 Introduction to Emergency Management

Elective Courses (choose three of the following) (9 hours):

- EMG 5160 Sustainability and Hazard Resilience
- EMG 5170 Crisis Leadership and Sustainability
- EMG 5180 Social Equity in Emergency Management
- EMG 5190 Technological Applications in Emergency Management

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools
